ABOUT THE SOUTH AFRICAN COUNCIL FOR SOCIAL SERVICE PROFESSIONS

The South African Council for Social Service Professions (SACSSP) is a statutory body established in terms of section 2 of the Social Service Professions Act No. 110 of 1978. The SACSSP has two professional boards under its auspices: the Professional Board for Social Work and the Professional Board for Child and Youth Care Work. The SACSSP, in conjunction with its two professional boards, guides and regulates the professions of social work, social auxiliary work and child and youth care work in aspects pertaining to registration, education and training and professional conduct. The SACSSP has the obligation to protect the integrity of the social service professions within which professional boards are established and the interest of the public, in particular social services beneficiaries. In order to safeguard the public and indirectly the professions, it is a prerequisite for a person to register with the SACSSP prior to practicing any of the three professions for which professional boards have been established. Practicing without registration with the SACSSP is a criminal offence and on conviction a person may be liable to a fine or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months.
